

What is Non-Citizen Voting?

An educational presentation from the League of Women Voters of Vermont

Saturday, February 18 | 2–3:30 p.m.

Fletcher Free Library, Fletcher Room, 235 College Street, Burlington | free

In Vermont, the cities of Winooski and Montpelier allow non-citizen residents to vote in local elections. Both cities undertook a long, complicated process to gain that right for their non-citizen residents. Burlington will consider a question to approve non-citizen voting at Town Meeting Day on Tuesday, March 7.

MARGUERITE ADELMAN, League of Women Voters of Vermont and Chair of the Non-Citizen Voting Committee, will present information about the two Vermont towns that currently have All Resident Voting, historical facts about non-citizen voting, what is happening in other states and nationally with non-citizen voting, and arguments for and against non-citizen voting.

CO-SPONSORS: League of Women Voters of Vermont, Chittenden Asylum Seekers Assistance Network, Immigration Justice Team of the First Unitarian Universalist Society of Burlington, Fletcher Free Library, and Town Meeting TV,
